

Quilts and warmers, icy winds and cheer, filling our hearts and our little kids looking snug in their lovely winter gear sum up the spirit of season.

We begin our new year with hope in our hearts and passion in our strides to do our best. As the academic year draws to a close we are taking giant steps ahead leaving no stone unturned in our pursuit to perfection and preparedness for the coming session.

Ability to express ourselves verbally and in writing has been a focus area throughout the year. Our children have crossed many milestones and reached very far from where they started. In the coming months the focus would be on to develop it further and bring the children a step up on the learning curve. Come February everything seems alive with the riot of colours all around, in the parks and at home, in the garden and on the window sills. Nature's amazing bounty can really be experienced up close. Who doesn't love a garden and when the sunlight is soft and the winter cold is thawing? Undoubtedly February is the best month of the year as the weather goes. Excellence is something we all strive for, but this spirit has to be imbibed in the early years. So the value of the month is to understand the importance of giving your best. To ensure complete well-being of our children, a comprehensive health check-up will be scheduled in the month of February.

March will come marching in close at the heels of February. The woollens would be gone, the sunlight stronger. The early feel of summer would be pervasive. The festival of Holi would be celebrated all across the City, in homes, in building societies, amongst friends and relatives. Colours would be sprinkled on clothes that would then look vibrant. The gulal, the pichkari – oh, it would be such fun! And then, everyone's favourite savoury, the Gujjia would be served, adding flavour to the colour.

The value of the month is to understand the meaning of politeness. Importance of politeness shall be shared through circle time discussions and walking the talk. As the session draws to a close, the little ones will emerge stronger, more knowledgeable and confident, as they move on to the next class. It would be a proud moment for you as parents to see them graduate their class, inching towards progress.

Regards
